

Summary of Conclusions:

Another validity aspect to consider is the reason behind the math items on the test. If the values) of items that contained calculations and items that did not. Cognitive inspection of these items revealed that they were more computational in
